VOLUME LXX. GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1922.-- NUMBER 29

AN APPEAL FOR THE WILSON FOUNDATION

Grenada County Expected To Contribute $100.

I have been taught when a duty or an obligation was placed upon me to try to meet it.

I have been named without my knowledge or consent to direct the work of raising $100 in Grenada County towards completing the million dollars for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

This movement, as most of us remember, was conceived in the mind of a woman, it therefore seems to me that the appeal for funds should especially elicit the active interest and the cooperation of the ladies of the County.

I feel that it is needless for me to say that no part of the funds or of the interest arising from the funds is to be shared by our great Ex-President. The foundation is designed to create a fund out of which gifts or awards may be made for any high or noble effort. It is planned to use the fund somewhat upon the plan the Noble Prizes are given. The purpose is noble. The aim is worthy. The end to be accomplished cultivates a spirit of service and tends to make us all crown the good deeds and lofty sentiments of our fellows with becoming reward.

What would the world be without our monuments? What would our country be without a knowledge and reverence for the lives and character of Washington, Jefferson, Adams, Jackson, Davis, Lee, Lincoln, Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson?

One of the worst things that Mr. Wilson's enemies charge him with is his idealism. That is a tribute to him. That very allegation teaches a lesson that we should all learn and incorporate into our lives. Many of our wisest and best men say now that we are too much time servers and that we subscribe too much to the idea that "end jugtifies the means," Woodrow Wilson's name will stand high on the pages of history. He will be numbered with the country's greatest, most patriotic and brainy men. Let Grenada County have a part in this Foundation Fund.

Who WILL BE THE FIRST TO MAKE A DONATION? I hope that I shall have enough voluntary responses as to make it unnecessary for me to canvass at all for this fund—one that the whole Nation is having a part in.

Mrs. Frank Korks,
Director for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fund for Grenada County.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The Directors of Grenada Oil Mill have this day resolved:

That in the death of Mr. J. H. Brown we have lost one of our most efficient and faithful directors. In this capacity, he was always zealous of the welfare and interest of this institution. Attentive, careful, faithful and efficient, his counsel and advice never failed in its benefits. Hard ,indeed, it will be to supply the place made vacant by his going.

That we, the directors, have lost a friend whom we loved and cherished for his virtues and his manly qualities.

That his city and county has lost a good citizen, his church a faithful member, his family a devoted husband and father.

Resolved further that these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and published and a copy transmitted to the family of our deceased friends.

D. O. Semmes,
B. C. Duncan,
Committee.

SENTINEL'S BUSINESS EXTENDS TO BELGIUM

The Sentinel received a draft this week from Brussels, Belgium, for five dollars. The draft was drawn on the National City Bank of New York "by its Belgian branch at Brussels, Belgium." It was dated Nov. 9. Miss Dean, who for several sessions was at the head of the department of English in Grenada College was the maker of the draft. Miss Dean is highly esteemed in Grenada and is regarded as one of the most highly cultured women of all ehe very highly trained who have been members of Grenada College faculty. She showed her good judgment and fondness for Grenada in patronizing The Sentinel. There are but few job offices or newspapers within the State which can boast of a client in Belgium.

MRS. J. L. TOWNES DIED NEAR HARDY

Mrs. J. L. Townes passed away in her seventy fifth year at her home a few miles east of Hardy Tuesday morning, Dec. 5, at 3 o'clock and her remains were laid to rest that afternoon in the burying ground at Hardy. This lady was one of the few links connecting the Old South with the present. She had lived in the past for many years. It was her delight to dwell upon the glories and the better things of days gone by. Her home was her chief concern. She was true to the ideals as she understood them. She lived according to Scriptural standards as she interpreted and died believing in the riches of a Risen Lord. She is survived by her husband and one son and a daughter. The Sentinel tenders sympathy to the bereft.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES

At Gore Springs Consolidated High School.

Quite an interesting Thanksgiving program was held in the high school auditorium on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, when the faculty, students and visitors of the Gore Springs Consolidated School came together to hear Dr. Farr, pastor of the First Baptist church of Grenada. Everyone was eagerly expecting the pleasures that come with a vacation and home-gathering, and listened with great interest to the twice-told stories of the first great Thanksgiving held in America and the subsequent following ones, while Dr. Farr completely captivated both old and young with his great and helpful sermon on "In the beginning we must love one another".

The high school girls gave the history of the first Thanksgiving, which dates back to the Hebrew Feast of the Tabernacles, down to the National proclamation issued by President Lincoln in 1863.

Mr. Jones, our very appreciative principal, in fitting words presented to the school and faculty a nice large flag which had been given previously to the school by Mr. C. C. White of Grenada, who is very interested in the progression of the school and who has been an active member of the Southern School-Book Depository at Jackson. The school takes this method to thank Mr. White for this gift.

BARANCO-MARINO

At 9 o'clock a.m. Tuesday, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Marino, in Grenada, marriage vows were said between Mr. Vincent Baranco of Jackson, Miss., and Miss Rose Marino, Father Joseph Marie of Water Valley officiating.

The bride is an attractive young woman and enjoys the esteem of all who know her. She is bright, winsome and is trained in those arts that make sure of a good house keeper and a happy home.

Mr. Baranco is succeeding well in business and is regarded as a promising young man.

The bride and groom left for Memphis where they will spend a few days before going to their home at Jackson.

NEW RECTOR AND FAMILY ARRIVE

The new Rector of the Episcopal church in Grenada, Rev. Robert W. Emmerson, wife and two children and his wife's mother, Mrs. Withers, arrived in Grenada last Saturday morning and are now comfortably located at the rectory.

Mr. Emmerson comes to Grenada from Thurber, Texas. He was born in Troy, N. Y. He comes with the very highest endorsement of the Bishop in the diocese of Texas as well as the endorsement of Bishop Bratton.

He has made a most favorable impression on his congregation and all who have had an opportunity to meet or hear him.

The Sentinel feels sure that Mr. Emmerson and family will be quickly adopted as Grenadians by the citizenship of the town and this paper joins in extending them a most cordial welcome.

NEGRO ASSAILED IN OWN HOME BY ANOTHER NEGRO

A desperate negro entered the home of Foster Harris, colored, on the Perry farm, 3 miles west of Grenada Wednesday night, and after shooting and perhaps fatally wounding Foster, and getting what money he could find, he marched Harris' wife out a short distance from the house and assaulted her. There is no clue to the identity of the perpetrator. Foster Harris has a bullet in his lungs and his recovery is regarded as doubtful.

GREER-BAKER

Miss Mary Meek Baker, youngest daughter of Mr. W. R. Baker of this County, was married at Wichita, Kansas, on Thursday evening of last week to Mr. Elva Greer.

While the family here had had some intimation that Cupid was endeavoring to do his artful work in the lives of these young people, it was not known that his plans had fruited so rapidly, hence the telegram conveying the news of their marriage was somewhat a surprise.

Mrs. Greer is a lovely, gracious and attractive young woman. She is cultured and brings forward in the life of today, very beautifully the modesty gentleness, evenness of demeanor and practical ideas of the stability of the motherhood of the present generation. Just somehow it was born in her to be domestic, yet she has not failed to develop her talents along other lines so as to equip and fortify her, if need be, for the sterner and exacting duties of present day life. In truth, she is a jewel worthy of the love and affection of any man.

Mr. Greer has been on the road for sometime in the same work that his bride has, that of representing a library association of Kansas City which has for one of its purposes the education and equipment of the public. Mr. and Mrs. Greer have both succeeded well in their professional duties.

The Sentinel wishes Mr. and Mrs. Greer every joy and true happiness in life.

A WOMAN'S WORD AGAINST A MAN'S WORD

The Birkhead-Russell Suit On Trial In Federal Court at Oxford Will Stand or Fall on Whether a Woman's Word Shall Have Equal Weight With a Man's. Russell First Witness Called. He Denies in To to. Miss Birkhead Wept on Stand. Bilbo Dodging the Court.

Oxford, Miss., Dec. 6.—The much heralded suit against Gov. Lee M. Russell of Mississippi is occupying the center of the stage at the sitting of the federal court in this town.

Judge Edwin Holmes of Yazoo City convened court Monday morning and after completing the organization, this suit was called in the afternoon.

The reading public throughout the country is fairly familiar with the issues involved and with what Miss Birkhead seeks in the litigation. Briefly it is this: She avers that she was a country girl who went to Jackson, took a course at a business college and later got employment in adjutant general's office during which time Russell was serving as Lieut. Governor. She alleges that Russell was a frequent visitor at the adjutant general's office, that he paid her some attentions and seemed to be interested in her; that he voluntarily offered her extra work if she would come to his office after her daily duties were finished. This she did according to her story, the Governor soon began to pour out his soul to her telling her that he loved her and that as soon as he was elected Governor, he was going to quit his present wife and would marry her; that for sometime she resisted his appeals but later yielded. That when the legislative session was over, that Russell arranged with her to return with him to Oxford where she became his private stenographer in his law office; that while in Oxford, she boarded in Russell's own home, and that later she became pregnant, and that at Russell's instance she attempted to rid herself of the unborn child, which brought about such a condition as made it necessary for her to go to Memphis. That when she left Oxford for Memphis, Russell provided the money and gave her directions as to what to do when she reached Memphis, and among other things, he gave her a letter to Goodman, the jeweler, who cashed a check for her later. She avers that when she recovered, that it was agreed between her and the Governor that she was to return to him and become his confidential secretary at Jackson. That she did return after Russell got to be Governor and that she was told by him that it would be best, as he had a lot of enemies in the legislature, to bide her time and wait until the law-making body had gone home; but that she insisted on work, and Russell did put her on as clerk or stenographer in some special work being done; that she became ill again and that Russell provided money for her to go to New Orleans for treatment. She avers that Russell frequently wrote to her after she left Oxford, and that she has letters to show this. Finally, she alleges that Russell cast her aside, whereupon she entered suit for $100,000.

Thre are two counts in Miss Birkhead's bill, one for $50,000 on the seduction charge and the other for the same amount upon the grounds that her health is broken because of her submitting to immoral relations with Russell and the abortion.

Gov. Russell's attorneys filed a demurrer to the bill which was argued Monday afternoon before Judge Holmes, and which the Judge overruled on the convening of court Tuesday morning. One contention was that a married man could not be held for seduction because the woman was on notice as to his already married relations; the other was that Miss Birkhead was immoral and had had improper relations with other men before the time of the alleged relations with him, and that the whole thing is a fabrication.

When the suit was first filed last February, Gov. Russell gave out an interview in which he charged his political enemies as well as certain fire insurance companies and sundry others with the suit and in one of the interviews he stated this: "My wife and I TRIED TO BEFRIEND THIS OUTCAST AND UNFORTUNATE WRETCH, AND THIS IS THE REWARD FOR OUR AID AND GOOD WILL IN HER TROUBLE", and "When I first saw this woman in 1918 she was in the midst of a piece of blackmail against a high and honorable citizen of this state and was going from house to house and from citizen to citizen telling her shame in a case similar to this and was then charging a distinguished citizen with the same dirty charge with which she charges me."

The prospective trial of the suit has brought to Oxford perhaps the largest crowd that was ever present here at a court. The hotels and private homes that take roomers are taxed. The people are here from all parts of the State. Many of the leading citizens of the State are here looking on with unfeigned interest for the reason, perhaps, more than any other that many believe that the trial is making history that will mark new political lines in Mississippi.

At the opening of court Wednesday morning, Miss Birkhead's attorneys announced that they disliked very much to proceed without the presence of Gov. Bilbo, a witness very material to the plaintiff. The attorneys stated to the court that service had on Gov. Bilbo and that an attachment had been issued for him Tuesday. It was rumored around that a telephone message to Poplarville brought the information that Gov. Bilbo's whereabouts were unknown and that he was somewhere "in the country."

When Gov. Russell gave out sundry statements immediately after the filing of the suit last February, in one which he laid the responsibility for Miss Birkhead's fight on him on Bilbo, the latter gave out an interview in which among other things, he said this about Gov. Russell:

"My former friend Russell is merely following his usual tactics of accusing any one who is not a friend of his of leading any fight that may be started against him. All my efforts in the present instance, have been directed, however, to sparing the state and the people of Mississippi this disgrace.

"When I am called upon to do so, I shall tell the whole truth and nothing else but the truth of what I know in this connection. In the meantime I can assure my former friend Russell that he need not fear me unleess he also fears the truth. In that event, 'Lay on Macduff, and damned be he who first cries Hold! Enough!' "

Miss Birkhead's attorneys sprang a surprise on Wednesday morning by announcing that they would call Gov. Russell as the first witness. Upon this announcement Gov. Russell's attorney's asked an adjournment until 2 o'clock. The Governor was on the stand about one hour and made a pretty good witness for himself. He denied in toto the Birkhead charges. Some letters alleged to have been written by him were presented and he denied them. M. S. McNeil, chief counsel for Miss Birkhead, asked the governor to take pen and ink and write a letter, which was a word for word copy of one in Miss Birkhead's possession alleged to have been written by the Governor and signed "Mary".

Miss Birkhead was next called and she, too, made a pretty good witness for herself. She went through some of the harrowing details of the affair as she alleges, tracing her first acquaintance with the Governor to her alleged downfall, her stay in his home at Oxford and gave in detail the events following her pregnancy and how as she said, she acted on Gov. Russell's instructions. She broke down and cried once.

The case will most probably not conclude until Friday or Saturday. It is going to narrow down it seems as to whether a woman's story is to be given the same credence that of man's is about adultery and general lascivious conduct.

Two men from Grenada County, C. A. Carpenter and Jack Smith, are members of the jury.

JAMES M. DUNCAN DIES

The people of this community were shocked yesterday to learn of the death of James M. Duncan, who djed yesterday morning at 5:20 o'clock, after an illness of only a few days. He had been missed by his hosts of friends during his illness, but all thought he would enjoy an early recovery. He had been in failing health for some time, but he never expressed the opinion that it was anything of a serious nature.

Mr. Duncan was a native of Grenada county, the family being one of the oldest in that vicinity, and was well known throughout the South. He lived for a short time in Yazoo City, and came to Vicksburg a little more than 30 years ago, making this city his home. He married Miss Annie Wright, daughter of Capt. C. E. Wright, and their wedded life was beautiful, and they were almost inseparable.

He was a man typical of the manhood of the old South, generous, courteous and always approachable. He enjoyed a splendid education, was a omnivorous reader and student his years, always feeling that was something more that learn.

He was formerly engaged w Delta Trust and Banking Co. and the American Bank and T Company.

He was very active in church wor and was a member of the Trinity church vestry.

He is survived by his wife, a brother, B. C. Duncan of Grenada, and two sisters, Mrs. Pink S. George of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Anna Turnage of Grenada, all of whom are in the city. He was an uncle of Mrs. Albert M. Bonelli.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Trin ity church, Rev. J. C. Jones officia ing.

Messrs. C. D. Chilton, J. W. Gar rett, E. H. Porter, T. H. Allein, Sr C. G. Wright, Sr., J. J. Lum, S. S Patterson and Joseph W. George o Greenwood will be the pallbearers.

The above is taken from the Vicksburg Herald of Dec. 2.

Mr. B. C. Duncan of Grenada did not reach Vicksburg until a few hours after his brother's death.

The deceased was one of three sons who lived to be grown of Maj. J. M. Duncan and wife whose home was fifteen miles west of Grenada near what used to be called "Chocchuma ferry", and near what is now known as Parsons station. Besides these, there was a brother by the father's first marriage. There were three sisters, Mrs. Helen Lamkin, Mrs. Turnage and Mrs. P. S. George.

The father and mother of this home were known for their sterling worth and for their devotion to those ideals which had so much to do with determining the character and the conditions of the Old South and which sowed the seeds of what is best in the life of today. Out of this home came splendid sons and daughters all of whom have made their imprint upon the world.

Mr. Duncan was first connected with a bank in Grenada. He impressed all as a man of positive convictions, of fixed business rules and for a devotion to those principles which are the bedrock of the best in society.

The Sentinel tenders condolence to the bereft and joins in paying this tribute to the memory of the deceased.

VOTERS OF COUNTY TO RE-REGISTER

New Registration Ordered By Supervisors.

The voters of Grenada County under an order of the board of supervisors passed at its meeting this week, will be required to re-register. This applies to any and everybody. One may have registered only thirty days ago, for example, still he or she will be required to register again, otherwise participation in the primaries next summer will be denied him or her.

The new registration was deemed necessary for the reason that the poll books have been marked on and written over until it is difficult to ascertain the correctness of many names.

The law is very plain as to elections. And the only way to successfully follow the law and thereby conduct elections so that none may have just cause to complain, is for the registration and poll books to be accurate and intelligible.

New books will be gotten and the circuit clerk and county registrar may be counted on to give due notice of his visits to the different polling precincts. In the meantime, after the new books are opened, any one can register at the circuit clerk's office at any time.

CHOATE'S COMEDIANS PLEASING GRENADA AUDIENCES

Choate's Comedians opened in Grenada Monday night for a one week stand on the Hoffa Lot, Depot Street and have played to good audiences each night. The plays presented have all had a well developed plot which was excellently brought out by the characters in the show. The entertainments are good, clean shows, free from anything that could possibly offend the most refined. The vaudeville which is presented between acts has been especially good.

The people connected with Choate's Comedians all appear to be ladies and gentlemen and the individual members of the company have made many friends during their stay here.

MAKE THREE MORE ELECTION PRECINCTS

Supervisors Make New One In Grenada and Two In District Two

The board of supervisors at its sitting this week provided for three new election precincts in Grenada County. For the town of Grenada, those living west of Green street and west of the graveled highway, will vote at the court house and those living east of Green street and east of the graveled highway will vote at the Mayor's office.

It is believed that the creation of a new precinct in Grenada will meet with general approval and that it is in line with a wise public policy. At the primary elections when county and district officers are chosen, the matter of counting the ballots after they are voted is a big undertaking. At the primary in 1919, the election officers here counted all night and did not conclude the count until about eight o'clock the following morning. With the women voting, of course the job of counting will be a much larger one. But with two precincts, which will practically divide the vote, two sets of election officers counting the ballots at the same time, the task will be finished much more quickly.

Two new precincts were made in district 2, one at Gore Springs and one at Pleasant Grove. Heretofore considerably more than half of the vote in district 2 was cast at Providence.

The board of supervisors also ordered a new registration. The new registration will require that every voter in the County to register again if he or she expects to participate in the primaries next summer or in the general election next fall.

KEMP MATTINGLY MAKING GREAT SUCCESS AS SALESMAN

There is a sort of fellowship among Grenada people that marks them as what some might term a "peculiar people". There is a marked interest here shown in the success that comes to any one of the community, it is therefore but in keeping with the spirit of the community for The Sentinel to state that is is pleased to note the splendid success Mr. Kemp Mattingly is meeting with as salesman for the Continental Gin Co. The writer had the opportunity to see a letter from the Company written a few days ago to Mr. Mattingly in which he was warmly commended. The letter showed that Mr. Mattingly stood at the head of the list.

Mr. Mattingly has been with the Continental Gin Co. for some years. He is full of energy and knows the line he is selling, and his success but again demonstrates that 'knowledge is power". Mr. Mattingly's growing sales and clientele also shows that he is correct in his dealings and that he has the confidence of the buying public as well as the concern which he represents.

Kemp Mattingly is by nature clever and obliging. He will seek an opportunity to do his friends a good turn, and the man who interests himself in his friends may count on others interesting themselves in him. The Sentinel but records the voice of the community in congratulating Mr. Mattingly and wishing him continued success.

On last Monday afternoon at one o'clock the first auction sale of mares, mules and horses that has been in Grenada for several months was held by Marvin Moss, an experienced stock man who is well known to the people of this territory. The stock was disposed of by the auctioneer, Col. Frank Holtzinger, at astonishingly low prices and the buyers appeared to be well pleased with their purchases. Mr. Moss, in his dealings with the people in this territory, has made a splendid reputation for integrity and those who know him are always glad when he comes to Grenada.

Illinois Central System Urges More Intensive Use of Limited Railway Facilities

The great shortage of railway transportation continues, and many shippers are suffering losses by reason of it. The remedy for the more distant future lies in greatly enlarging and expanding railway facilities of all kinds. There is no completely effective remedy for the immediate future, but there is an opportunity for improvement through more intensive use of our present limited facilities—by loading and unloading cars more promptly and by loading cars more heavily.

In many instances cars are unloaded or loaded the same day they are delivered. That kind of co-operation helps the situation materially, but it occurs all too frequently that a car which could be completely loaded or unloaded in a day is held over into the following day. This should be avoided wherever possible. Freight cars still spend more than one-third of their time in the hands of the shippers and consignees. We believe this delay can be reduced substantially if shippers will give this question the serious attenntion which it deserves, and we urge them to do so.

We are putting forth our best efforts to load more heavily the cars that we load ourselves, and we urge our patrons to join us in these efforts to provide more transportation. We realize that there are some commodities which cannot be loaded to the full carrying capacity of the cars. However, shippers on the Illinois Central System are utilizing only three-fourths of the full capacity of freight cars (except coal cars) which transport commodities permitting of capacity loading. That means one-fourth of the capacity of such cars is being wasted. We urge our patrons to assist us in correcting this condition as far as it lies within their power to do so.

We give below a few concrete cases to illustrate how transportation opportunities are being wasted. In October, lumber loading on Illinois central System Lines was only 58.3 per cent of the capacity of the cars loaded, mixed feed loading was only 54.9 per cent, cement loading was only 76 per cent, cotton-seed products loading was only 56.2 per cent, flour and meal loading was only 59 per cent, sugar loading was only 62.2 per cent, and stucco and plaster loading was only 75.3 per cent of maximum car capacity. The cars which transported these commodities and many other commodities should have been loaded fully 25 per cent more heavily than they were.

Coal car loading was more than 95 per cent of maximum capacity; wheat and corn loading was more than 90 per cent, and stone, sand and gravel loading was nearly 96 per cent of the capacity of the cars.

One way of measuring the efficiency of a railway organization is through its record on the average number of miles made per car per day; this average includes all freight cars on the railroad—cars standing awaiting loading or unloading, cars out of repair, cars being switched in yards and cars moving in trains. The best record ever attained on the Illinois Central System on miles per car per day prior to this year was made in October, 1920, when the record of 44.59 miles per car per day was established. That record was surpassed in October, 1922, with a record of 45.75 miles per car per day.

Co-operation received from our shipper patrons assisted us materially in attaining these results. In urging further and more intensive co-operation of shippers, we are not unmindful of the assistance which they have already rendered; but we believe that the present transportation crisis justifies every shipper and railway man in going to the extreme limit of his ability in getting every possible service out of our limited transportation facilities.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

THE OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY

Candidates are announcing in the different counties of the State. In some there is already a long list. Is it possible that there is to be none in Grenada County who is willing to "make a sacrifice" to hold office "for the people"? It may be necessary to advertise for candidates(?).

There are some big business questions to be solved by the next State administration in Mississippi. Will the people, who ought to give thought to the selection of men, stick to their "own business" to the exclusion of the State's business when the latter is so nearly the corner stone of their business success?

The farmers have heard about enough of "how to kill the boll weevil". What they are particularly interested in just now is the "boll weevil dead". It is not how to inflict the death penalty on the boll weevil, but the public wants to be cited to the weevil upon which the death penalty has already been inflicted.

Never before in the history of the United States was there so much of religious ideas and sentiment being sent out to the public through the newspapers of the country. It will bear fruit. What is being fed to the public is not sectarian ideas or the propaganda of any particular church, but just those truths which are so sublimely set forth in the Sermon on the Mount, the world's greatest pronouncement.

Clemancau is getting the consolation of telling his side of the story to the American people. The grand old man is sincere and earnest. He presents his cause with great force and power and out of his visit let it be hoped that the fundamentals of world peace may be furthered. The daggers that are out, the same old contest for more territory and for trade that is now manifest in Europe is not very encouraging to those who hoped for a new day over there.

MEMPHIS MAN BURIED HERE

George Read, for many years one of the leading grain dealers of Memphis, died suddenly late yesterday afternoon at his home, 23 South McLean Boulevard, following a stroke of paralysis. Although Mr. Read had suffered a stroke last September, he recovered his strength sufficiently to remain with his business until last Saturday.

Mr. Read was 69 years of age. He was a man of unusual vigor. He ignored the warning of his physicians when unmistakable signs of failing health became apparent early in the fall, preferring to be loyal to his business.

Mr. Read was born in Augusta, Ga., June 19, 1853. His parents, Mr. George Read and Mrs. Mary Yonge Read, were both English. He moved to Memphis when he was 20 years of age and entered the commission business with his uncle, James Yonge. Later on he became associated with John K. Speed & Co., in those days the leading grain dealers in Memphis.

Mr. Read was very popular in Memphis as a young business man. For a long time he made his home at the old Hotel Gayoso. He was active in every movement for the civic and commercial betterment of the city.

For the past quarter of a century Mr. Read had been associated with W. P. Brown and Company, grain dealers. His counsel and industry were responsible in no small degree for the success and prestige of that company.

Mr. Read was a member of the Merchants Exchange and some of his closest friends were connected with that organization.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. May Hoffa Read, two sons, Captain George Read, Jr., now at Fort Benning, Ga., Phil C. Read, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas W. Harsh, wife of Judge Tom Harsh of second criminal court. He was an uncle of R. Henry Lake.

The above is taken from the Commercial Appeal of Nov. 30. The death of Mr. Read touched the hearts of many in Grenada, especially because of the fact that his wife was reared in this County and naturally her old friends share her sorrow with her.

Appropriate services were conducted at the grave Friday afternoon, the remains having been carried direct from passenger train No. 3 to the cemetery, by Rev. Melville Johnson of the Methodist church. The minister's words pointed out most beautifully what a well rounded life meant and the consolation in such sad hours afforded by the hope in Christ. The body was deposited in the Hoffa lot beside Mrs. Read's mother, who passed away some twenty years ago.

The Sentinel tenders condolence to the sorrowing.

PUBLIC HEALTH NOTES

By Your County Health Officer

Through the courtesy of the Editor of The Sentinel, we shall undertake, from time to time, to discuss briefly some of the more common ills with which humanity is afflicted and means for their prevention.

Let us remember always that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure". When you are sick, consult your doctor, but you would be saved many spells of sickness and much worry if you would consult your doctor before you got sick. The thing the medical profession is seeking to get fixed in the public mind is to "keep well".

A normal, healthy person is an asset to a community. A sick or infirm person is a liability to a community. We, you and I, want to be ASSETS. "Keep well", should be the slogan. That is a part, a big part of the duty of health officers to assist you to take such steps and do such things as will assist you in keeping well. Your physician wants to see you keep well, and I assure you that it is my aim and ambition to do whatever I can as your County Health Officer to assist your doctor and you in keeping well.

God designed and created a perfect man, and if we are not perfect physically, we have become imperfect because of the violation of some law of health, or because of some act or because of neglect or indifference upon the part of those responsible for our being.

That nation or people which does the most to conserve its health, lives the longest, grows the most and becomes all the more happy and useful.

That nation or community which neglects sanitation and rules of health, and persists in it, is backward in all things and in the end gets to be regarded as a bane to civilization.

As opportunity presents, to the end that I may get the thought and cooperation of the people of the County, I hope to discuss the following subjects in the order given: 1. The teeth; 2. Infectious diseases and their prevention; 3. the eyes, their care and preservation; 4. tonsillitis and adenoids; 5. the heart; 6. foods and a well balanced diet; 7. home life and its bearing on health. Following these I shall have some other thing to say through the public press which I hope will to state interestingly, and that will give better ideas of sanitation and thereby aid our people in avoiding sickness and disease.

MISS McCORMICK TO BE CONGRATULATED

The Sentinel learns that Miss McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCormick in the Kirkman community, has placed herself about the head of the list in home gardening this year. Her crop of egg plants is almost remarkable. The yield was bountiful and some of the fruit was exceedingly large, one measured 22 inches in diameter. Egg plants are a popular table vegetable and by many are regarded as a lurury, so this young lady has not only achieved distinction but she has shown herself ready for higher and more important duties.

WITH CALUMET

Mrs. Helen Harrington Downing, resigning as Director of the Department of Food Economics of Armour & Co. Chicago, however, has not lost Mrs. Downing who is nationally known as one of the leading Domestic Science experts of the country. She has moved from the big Armour establishment to take charge of the Home Economics Department of the Calumet Baking Powder Co.

Mrs. Downing's new position will afford her a broader field as the Calumet Company have initiated a Domestic Science campaign, for the benefit of American housewifes, that pratically will touch every home in the United States.

As a lecturer on dietetics, cooking and Domestic Science, Mrs. Downing has appeared before many important Women's Clubs in the United States. She brings a prestige and wide experience to her new duties.

AUCTION SALE AT GREENWOOD

The Sentinel is carrying in this issue an ad of Wilson & Fly at Greenwood which tells of their auction sale of Tennessee mules and saddle horses next Tuesday, Dec. 12. Sale begins at 1 o'clock.

These gentlemen are well known in Grenada, having sold stock here for a number of years, and their many friends will bear testimony to their fair dealings and the fact that they make good on every animal they sell.

These auction sales will be repeated by this firm at Greenwood every Tuesday for several weeks.

MRS. COTTON APPRECIATIVE

I wish to extend a few words of praise and appreciation to those of my many friends who have been so thoughtful and untiring in their kindness to myself and daughter since I had the misfortune of getting my arms broken. May God bless each of you and may your pathway through life be filled with much joy.

Mrs. Alice Cotton.

Roane, Sam Grizzle and S. W. Wardlaw, the last named being a sister of the very attractive honoree. The whole affair, like everything else the hostess plans or does, was almost perfection in detail and in beauty of execution. The decorations served to bring out the attractiveness and the hospitality of the cozy and delightful home and bespoke a warmth of greeting and a sincerity that was markedly pleasing to all. The refreshments consisted of tea, coffee and sandwiches. Music dispensed by a well trained orchestra served to add to the charm of the evening and to give a touch of a happy blending of beauty and art. The honoree won the heart of all.

The elegant Borden home on Glenwild plantation was thrown open on Thanksgiving afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock, to receive the friends of the delightful host and hostess who were spending a few days there from their home in Chicago. Invitations were general and it seemed as if almost everybody in the community were there. One of the pleasing features of the function was its lack of formality. There was nothing stilted about it. It seeemed quite like a reunion of old friends on that glad Thanksgiving Day. There were a great many who had not heretofore had the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Borden. Mrs. Borden proved herself to be gracious, thoughtful and happy in all she did and said. With Mr. and Mrs. Borden were their two lovely daughters. Delightful refreshments of tea, coffee and punch, together with sandwiches and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Borden were voted to be more than adepts in making everybody agreeable and in dispensing what is dear to every Southern heart, Southern hospitality.

To save your time and to permit our household representative to serve every housewife in town, we make this request: "Please do not mistake the gentleman who calls at your door."

We realize how many times, daily, women are called to the door, how many needless steps are caused. No business man would be "at home" to constant interruptions of his work. And why should women be—unless assured of real help in the business of housekeeping?

Intelligent, educated gentlemen are now explaining to the women of this community some short-cuts to easier laundrying, and general household cleaning. They have many practical housekeeping suggestions and ways to cut expenses. These men will not take more time than you desire. It is to your advantage to see them when they call.

Do not hesitate because it costs so little, in truth, many insurance policies cost too much. We are only enabled to make this extra ordinary offer because of some special arrangements we have made.

Some of the largest daily newspapers in the United States, more than 200 of them in all, are offering this same insurance policy contract to their readers. Among the newspapers it might be mentioned that President Harding's paper, the Marion Star, at Marion, Ohio; The Washington City Herald; The Times Journal and scores upon scores of other newspapers.

Knowing that there is nothing too good for Sentinel readers, we made an investigation and got the privilege of selling these polices to our readers.

No such opportunity was ever before offered as this Reader Insurance Policy. It is a bonafide travel and accident policy put out by an Old Line Insurance Company.

While doing a real,a genuine, service for our readers, we make it easier for one to pay his or her subscription.

The cost is just a little over 1-4 of one cent a day--just think of it. Who would not be willing to double this small amount tomorrow morning as a guarantee against accidents?

DON'T DELAY. TIME IS TOO PRECIOUS. A C C I-DENTS ARE TOO FRE=QUENT. THINK ABOUT WHAT SECURITY A $1000 ACCIDENT INSURA N C E POLICY WILL MAKE YOU FEEL.

The policy is issued to both men and women between the ages of 16 and 70 for white and colored people. No red tape. No medical examination required.

The newspapers are full of stories of automobile and other accidents every day. You may be the next.

The Sentinel believed that it would be doing something worth while if it could find a way to protect its readers against such misfortunes at a small cost.

THE TRUE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Period of Good Will and Kindly Thought for Others, Most Important on Calendar.

THAT if, as a Scrooge-like cynic intimates, the Christmas spirit comes to us but once a year, not even he will attempt to assert that we are not the better for it. Think what it would mean if that period of good will and kindly thought for others were dropped from our calendar. No blessed interruption to our too generally self-centered lives; no yearly oasis of brotherly sentiment to purge us, however temporarily, of selfishness and cause us, if only for a few days to think of making others happy.

Pre-eminently the children's festival, as of right it should be since it commemorates the nativity of the Christ Child, it transforms us all, whatever our years, into children of larger growth. We experience anew the glad expectancy of childhood, the thrill that far surpasses any realization, and find our greatest pleasure in the simple childish emotions of love and joy.

And this is the noblest Christmas gift, the gift of the true Christmas spirit that captures and takes possession of each one of us. "Except ye be converted and become as little children ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

PEACOCK PIE FOR CHRISTMAS

CHICKEN pie, beefsteak pie, and pumpkin pie, not forgetting apple pie and cheese, the great American institution—all of these have a familiar ring to our ears, but who of us has ever tasted the famous English dainty of dainties, peacock pie? Yet at one time, this was a favorite Christmas dish which was brought in with a great deal of ceremony by the lady, most distinguished in all the company for beauty and high position. Many times this dish was garnished with the head and tail of the peacock in such a way as to appear that the bird was alive. Knights made vows over it to break spear in defense of beauty and distress. It was this ceremony which gave rise to the once popular oath "by cock and pie."

Probably the use of the peacock pie as a Christmas dish arose from the old belief that the flesh of the peacock is incorruptible which of course would make it a symbol of immortality and new life.

To the people of today the peacock is a symbol of vanity.

SOME OLD YULETIDE BELIEFS

Season Supposed to Control the Destiny of Children Born at Gladsome Time.

AN OLD superstition says that it is lucky to be born on Christmas Day.

French peasants believe that in addition to being lucky Christmas Day babies have the gift of prophecy; while in Silesia there is a belief that a boy born on Christmas Day will become either a lawyer or a thief.

Among Vosges peasants, children born on Christmas Eve are supposed to be endowed with what is vulgarly termed "a good gift of the gab," while those born on Christmas Day are supposed to have less tongue and better reasoning powers. A daughter born on Christmas Day will grow up to be wise, witty, and virtuous.

A curious bequest for the benefit of Christmas Day babies was left by a man who died in 1915. By the terms of his will each child born in the testator's native town on December 25th receives five pounds as a birthday gift.

VERY SLOW

Mrs. Snail — Well I haven't and I started out a month ago.

Sad and Solemn Thoughts.

"Even at Christmas, when all the world is gay and glad," said the grey-bearded philosopher, "there come to a man sad and solemn thoughts."

"Yes," agreed the young man who had no watch on the end of his chain, "and the saddest and most solemn are those that come to a fellow when he reads of the marriage of a girl to whom last Christmas he gave a diamond ring on which he is still paying installments."

Christmas Weather.

For Christmas the weather should be of that Pickwickian kind in which the grass is "crisp and frosty," the air has a "fine, dry, bracing coldness," and the day is one "that might induce a couple of elderly gentlemen in a lonely field to take off their great-coats and play at leapfrog in pure lightness of heart and gayety."—Youth's Companion.

ENNIS WOMAN NOW REJOICING OVER HEALTH RESTORED

Frances Babek Finds Relief From Recurring Troubles Through Taking Stella Vitae.

"It's hard for me to describe the benefits I have derived from the use of Stella Vitae, they are so wonderful," said Frances Babek, R. F. D. No. 6, Box 72, Ennis, Texas.

"I suffered from a kidney trouble that was very painful at times and was irregular in my periods. As a consequence I often had dull headaches and there was a constant misery in my back in the region of my kidneys. My stomach hurt me and I had indigestion pretty bad, felt so dizzy at times I could hardly keep on my feet and then a sort of rheumatic pain in my legs kept me from getting about and keeping up my housework. My nerves were shattered and I fell off in weight till I was as thin as a slat.

"I don't know that I had much faith in Stella Vitae when I first took it I had been disappointed so much in other things I had tried, but it wasn't long before I felt I had got hold of the right thing at last. Well, it put me right at last and my periods are regular and I am never bothered like I was before taking this treatment. I know it is a good thing for women who have troubles like mine."

Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief. Druggists are supplied from the Van Vleet-Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn, Distributors.—Adv.

THE WILSON FUND

It seems to us inconceivable that any Democrat can be indifferent to the success of the movement for the establishment of the Wilson Foundation, and we can appreciate why many Republicans are sympathetic to it.

Democrats ought to support the movement because aside from the fact that its aim is world peace, it represents a permanent tribute to a Democratic President. Republicans should be for it because at the bottom it is for the well-being of this republic. Louisiana as a rockribbed Democratic State can hardly wish not to be associated with it.

The foundation looks to a popular subscription of $1,000,000, the annual interest from which is to be given in prizes for the promotion of world peace.

Of this amount more than three quarters have been raised. Many of the states long since raised their quota. But Louisiana not only has not gone over the top. She is only a few steps up the hill. Though her allotment is only $25,000 she has subscribed but a pitiful small sum thereof.

Mr. Wilson's policy occasionally did run counter to Louisiana interests. When it did The States did not hesitate to say so.

But no one can overestimate Mr. Wilson's overmastering moral influence in the World War—no one can take from him the credit which is his due for the Armistice of Rethondes that ended the greatest war in the history of mankind and not only preserved the integrity of this republic but made it the greatest power in the world. Nor can he be deprived of the credit which belongs to him as one of the great international apostles of peace. He was not able to carry through his idea of a League of Nations. But are there any Christian men or women in this broad land who, whether they agree or not with his domestic policies, believe he had other aim than to make war less likely?

And if it is agreed that this was his objective how can Louisiana be laggard in a movement which would establish the Wilson Foundation?

Moreover, if the people of Louisiana are not, like the rest of the people of the country, favorable to the fine principle which the Wilson Foundation involves, how can the people of Louisiana, enlightened, patriotic and progressive, afford to let Louisiana be the one state in the Union which is to fall short of her contribution to a movement which is to have the acclaim of the world?—New Orleans Daily States.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Scott had the privilege of entertaining last week-end Dr. Hyde, pastor of one of the leading Methodist churchees in Chicago, and Dr. Webdell of Memphis, a leading Methodist divine of that city. With these gentlemen was also Mr. Archer, one of the prominent officials of the I. C. Railroad. On Friday night of last week Mr. Scott treated his guests to the novelty of a possum hunt, a thing unique in the experience of the Chicago gentlemen.

MAKING THE GOOD LIFE INTERESTING

A writer in Harpers Magazine complains that people are more interested in the vampires of history than in the good women. Lucretia Borgia, it is contended, has received more attention than Susan B. Anthony, and Cleopatra gets more space in libraries than Clara Barton. When it comes to arousing interest Catherine di' Medici outdistances Frances Willard or Florence Nightingale.

The accusing author suggests part of the reason for this. The vampires of history prove interesting, not so much because of their wickedness, but in spite of it. They are different from the average of humanity, and therefore they awaken curiosity.

In this very fact is testimony to the innate goodness of humanity. Good people are so much the rule that variation, either toward genius or depravity, is the exception. And the variant carries the glamour of the unexpected and unusual.

In the past forces of custom, tradition and conventionality have tended toward uniformity and have been valued, because cohesion was the first need of society. The premium was placed upon whoever conformed. Only lately was it realized that social progress often comes about through variation.

And then goodness has often proved uninteresting, because of its associations. Under Puritanism and monasticism righteousness often took the form of self-abnegation. It meant abstaining from many of the pleasures of life. It denoted the severe countenance and the mind aloof from the world. As Matthew Arnold showed, the Puritan attitude has projected itself into modern times.

One problem of the good life is to interesting. And it has too often been presented as colorless and devitalized. It has too often been made a negative affair and a thing of denials and withdrawals.

It is hard to realize moral values in advance. It often takes years for a person to realize vividly that the wages of sin is death, or that as the twig is bent, so it is likely to grow. To bring this lesson home is a vital way, is one object of education and moral training.

But ripening experience often does what precepts and injunctions do not do. As maturity advances, the evil life is seen to be fragmentary. It goes to pieces soon or late. The good life alone carries permanent values. Its contribution is absorbed into society, and its work for good is continuing. The highest value is character. To mature men and women, who have experienced much of life, the most interesting thing is not the sowing of wild oats, but the saving power of the useful life. It may take training and imagination to realize this, but its value becomes evident in the long run.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE TEACHING OF THE BOOK OF JOB

Two of the latest discussions of the Book of Job have come from brilliant Jewish writers, but they arrive at diametrically opposite conclusions regarding the structure and history of this great Hebrew classic. Little difference, however, does it make to the reader whether the book is "a drama fashioned after the Euripidean model" or whether as Dr. Jastrow asserts, "it is in no sense a drama." The question the reader asks is what does the book teach? To this query, Dr. Jastrow, following Ruskin and practically all other scholars, gives this interpretation of the teaching of the book:

The final word in the immortal Book of Job is that faith is the presence of unfathomable mystery is only secure foundation on which we can build our lives. Such faith rises superior to argument and speculation, because it realizes that the highest truth accessible to man is never a solid that can be grasped, but an atmosphere to be breathed.

The differences of the scholars may be of some academic interest, but, in the case of these two latest discussions of the book, as these scholars come to diametrically opposite conclusions, the book is left where it was before, a story that has furnished bread of life for millions of readers, and one that will continue to provide it.

Kallen, in his volume The Book of Job as a Greek Drama, maintains that it is a closely knit drama after the Greek model. He assigns the book to one author. Dr. Jastrov, on the other hand, regards it as "a symposium of symposiums coming from at least seven different authors." So the two scholars cancel each other.

The Book of Job, it has always been clear to judicious readers, is one that attempts to throw light upon the hard questions raised by the innocent, who "maintains his integrity" in the face of temptation to "curse God and die." Job's friends endeavor to break down his claim of "innocent sufferer," and insist that somehow he has violated the laws of God. Job resists this accusation and is sustained by the voice of Jehovah in the storm.

The argument is that everything in this material world is found in mystery and has its roots in mystery, and that suffering or seeming evil is no more mysterious than are happiness and good. In the presence of these basic mysteries, our faith in the great Power of the Universe must rise superior to argument, speculation or appearances, and must live "as seeing Him who is invisible" and in a way, as understanding "Him who is invisible"—at least far enough for all practical purposes of right living.

The man who does not follow this teaching necessarily falls back upon the platform, "What's the use?" and lives accordingly. Pragmatically the former platform justifies itself in life and the later platform invariably fails those who elect to stand upon it.

Why raise unending and unsolvable problems as to the single authorship or multiple authorship, when the valuable thing to be gleaned from the book by the thoughtful reader is this teaching of supreme faith in the infinite Author of the Universe, when appearances for the moment seeem to be against the belief that He is good? It is naturally impossible for the finite mind to grasp the Infinite Mind and all His purposes, but it is still possible to maintain confidence in His almighty power.—Minneapolis Journal.

ONE NIGHT IS RIGHT

"Proof of the pudding is in the eating," is just as true today as it was when that wise guy first put it out, and it affords us pleasure to apply the old maxim to Spiva's One Night Itch Remedy. We have hundreds of testimonials as to the virtue of this wonderful remedy but have not the space to name them all. However, among the good ones we give you one this week from a Company that has sold this remedy for a number of years and we want you to read what the S. T. Carr Drug Company says of it. This Company is right on the ground where this remedy was originated and knows not only the medicine, but knows the man who made the prescription. Read what Mr. Carr says and write him if in doubt. He will take pleasure in replying to your inquiry:

Louisville, Miss., Nov. 30, 1922.
Anona Co., Jacksonville, Tenn.
Gentlemen:

Answering your request for a statement for publication, will say that I began selling Spiva's One Night Itch Remedy 12 months ago, largely because of my confidence in the integrity of its manufacturers, and I soon found that it would give absolute satisfaction. By giving prompt attention to mail orders and guaranteeing it to reputable acquaintances, I have built up a large sale for the store, in fact it is the only Itch Remedy I handle, and I buy one gross at a time. I have sold hundreds of jars on a positive guarantee and no one has complained or asked for his money back. It is my intention to sell it as long as I can get it.

Cordially yours,
S. T. CARR DRUG CO.

For $2.50, we will send The Sentinel one year and write the subscriber an Accident Insurance Policy, which runs for one year, in the North American Accident Insurance Co. of Chicago. It is an old line company. The policy is a standard policy. We write it on ages from 16 to 70, either man or woman. No medical examination. No red tape. In case of being killed by accident, the policy pays $1,000. For disability from accident of any kind, policy pays a weekly indemnity of $10 per week for 3 months. We are making pull for the biggest subscription list ever carried by any two county newspapers. We are making a proposition to the schools in which we offer BIG BONUS; we are also making a proposition wherein we propose to give an Accident Insurance Policy for The Sentinel one year and the policy, only $2.50.

Get into The Sentinel's SUBSCRIPTION CRUSADE. We give tickets with every dollar in Gold Contest besides other things.

THE SCHOOLS CAN MAKE MONEY

By Taking Actively Hold of Our Subscription Offer.

The Sentinel is making in this issue a business proposition to the schools of Grenada County whereby they can realize a nice sum for their libraries or for any other purpose for which they elect to use the money. The proposition is fully set forth in a display ad which appears elsewhere in this paper. We also issued 1,000 circulars and have endeavored to get the matter thoroughly before the teachers as well as school patrons.

In brief the proposition is this: The regular subscription price of The Sentinel is $1.50. From now until Jan. 1, 1923, we will allow any school in Grenada County a commission of 50 cents on each new subscription sent us. For 10 new subscriptions at the same time, we will allow $7.00 commission to the school securing the subscriptions. On renewal subscriptions, we will allow the schools a commission of 40 cents and for ten renewals sent in at one time, we will give a commission of $6. The only conditions are that the subscriptions must be sent by the superintendent, principal or teacher or some one authorized to act for the school, and the cash must accompany each order.

Every teacher in the County ought to read the County newspaper. Every taxpayer in the County ought to have his County paper. It is a business proposition for him to subscribe for it. Through its columns is the only intelligent way for one to keep posted with the County's affairs.

The success or failure of the proposition rests largely with the teachers. They can put it over, and when they do, their schools are the winners.

The proposition is open to negro schools as well as to white schools.

Tickets to $300 in Gold given for each dollar paid.
